PORT ARTHUR'S SUIT IS PUT OFF

Jefferson County Pays $78 For Jurors; No Trials

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—The suit brought by C. Bledsoe against the city of Port Arthur will probably not come up for hearing of a period of several months now, since the case was continued again Monday in 28th district court, following adjournment of the law session.

It cost Jefferson county just $87 for jurors Monday when Judge O'Brien called 18 cases and all were continued. There were 200 jurors called and since none of the cases were ready to be tried all were continued. This also means there will be no other work taken up in district court this week on the dockets, although special matters will be attended to.

Both courts are congested and judges have pointed out that it is expensive as well when attorneys pass over cases as they do. It is also pointed out that the judges want a trial, they can demand one, but in all the cases called yesterday, both sides agreed not to go on with the case.

There are 18 cases set for next Monday and the same number on the two following weeks. Following this, the criminal docket will be taken up.

CONSIDERS CLOSING STANDS

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—Federal Judge W. L. Evans heard two applications to close the stands in Beaumont Monday afternoon and continued with others of the same nature this morning. Petitions have been filed by District Attorney S. D. Bennett, asking that 10 places in Beaumont and Port Arthur be closed under the nuisance clause of the federal prohibition act. Of the places mentioned, 7 are from Port Arthur. Judge Estes stated he would hear all cases and would not render a decision on any until he had heard all the evidence. Attorneys in the cases stated that they believed all stands would be closed.

TWO AUTOS STOLEN

Special to The News. BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—Two more thefts of automobiles were reported to Beaumont police Monday. The first was from A. L. Chessor, 1275 Pine street, who stated that he had left his car parked on College street but a short time and that when he returned for it, it was gone. An employee of the Southern Bell Telephone company, C. A. Gierard, also reported the theft of a Ford roadster from Greyburg. Both cars were insured.

TWO STILLBORN

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—Two large stills, each with a capacity of 50 gallons, together with much enough to manufacture 400 gallons of whiskey and other paraphernalia were taken Monday night by deputies W. E. Jones, D. F. Riter and C. C. Price working out of Judge Thomas Brown's justice court. A quantity of whiskey was also found and four men were arrested. The still was hidden in a marsh about two miles from the main road in the county of Lewis, and when the officers came upon the men the still was in operation.

NECHES BRIDGE APPROVED

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—Final official authority for the building of the Neches river bridge and other county work for which state aid is to be given was obtained Monday by county engineer A. C. Lister, who returned this morning from Austin. Mr. Lister stated that the state highway commission had "unofficially" approved all the work that was being done in the county but final approval had not been given previously to Monday.

LEARN OUR LAWS

BEAUMONT, Texas, Jan. 22.—"For Arthur people should become better acquainted with our parking ordinances," Chief of Police Rud Tice declared Tuesday morning. H. B. Tucker, Port Arthur, was arrested Monday for having parked his car to long in one place according to local officers, such an occurrence is common, particularly when outsiders in portable and especially from Port Arthur come here. Since there are no parking ordinances in nearly cities, people do not stop to think how long they are leaving their cars in one place and as a result find themselves in the hands of the law.

LENIN Fugitive From Justice to Dictator Of the World's Largest Domain

Throughout almost his whole life a fugitive from justice, Lenin, who died recently from one end of Europe to the other, pursued by secret police, Nikolai Lenin found himself after the World War catalyst of the world's greatest revolution, arbiter of the lives and deaths of 200,000,000 people, and a force feared by every world power.

Even the name Nikolai Lenin is a relic of the days when he was "wanted" by police. For he insisted it to mask his true identity when there was a price on his head.

Vladimir Ilyich Ulanoff—that is the real name of the Russian premier—was born April 10, 1870, in a small village in the government of Simbirsk.

His father was of peasant stock—a pure Russian—but he had been elevated to the nobility through official appointment. He was an instructor of schools.

Young Ulanoff attended the Simbirsk gymnasium, or high school, where he spent some time and then went on to the University of Kazan, where he was head of the Russian government in the period between the czar's fall and the accession of the bolsheviks.

Revolutionary at 17
When Ulanoff was only 17 his older brother, Alexander, was executed following his conviction of conspiracy to assassinate Czar Alexander III.

From that day Ulanoff was an ardent revolutionary. He swore to devote his life to destroying the regime which he regarded as his brother's murderer.

Having been graduated from the gymnasium, the young man went to the University of Kazan, Russia, where he was expelled for having engaged in revolutionary activities.

At 21 he took up law at the University of St. Petersburg. He obtained a degree but dropped practice after having planned one case. He resolved to devote his time to instructing workmen in politics and economics.

Exiled but Undaunted
In 1897 he organized a revolutionary association called the Union for the Liberation of the Russian Class. The czar's agents straightaway arrested him and he was exiled to Siberia.

Even there his revolutionary activities could not be stopped. He wrote books and pamphlets which were spirited back from the industrial centers. It was in Siberia that he adopted "Lenin" as an alias.

His term of exile over, Lenin left Russia and traveled about Europe. He edited communist publications in Munich, Brussels, Paris, London and Geneva.

Meanwhile he studied, translated and wrote books and pamphlets. He was continually in touch with the Russian revolutionary party.

When this party split in 1903 Lenin became head of one faction which bore the name of bolsheviks.

Back to Russia
As the czar's government began to totter, Lenin and 100 revolutionary leaders were permitted to return to Russia through the Japanese.

Lenin, who overthrew the czar's regime and placed Lenin in power, had been in the hands of the Russian revolutionaries.

Today the czar's commissars for education and the interior cabinet. She supervised the revision of text books for common schools and herself is author of the "First Reader" now in use, the first of which reads: "We are bolsheviks."

Lenin always wore a dark suit only enough to live, he devoted all his time to his work and night to labor. He always dressed carefully.

"The first aim of his whole life is the good of all mankind," said Maxim Gorky, Russian writer of Lenin.

"He is the most ferocious and disquieting of men," said a British embassy member.

LEGION POST TO PICK DELEGATES

Meeting Tonight Will Have Important Business

Election of delegates from the Rudolph Lambert post, American Legion, to attend the district legion meeting convening in Beaumont, January 29, is slated for the meeting of Port Arthur Legionnaires tonight at 8 o'clock in their club rooms on Lake Shore Drive, post officers said today.

With State Commander Sherwood, Vice State Commander Steve Alford and District Committeemen Blaford and Blaford, announced they will be at the Beaumont convention, the affair is being planned as one of the biggest of its kind yet attempted in this district. Port Arthur Legion officers said today.

Not only the election of delegates to this district meeting, but several other important business matters will be brought before members of the post here tonight, and a large crowd of Legionnaires is expected to attend the meeting, James L. Dunn, post commander, said.

TAKE SALTS IF STOMACH ISN'T ACTING RIGHT

Says Indigestion Results from An Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or rather ferments, the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by hyperacidity meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. Thus everything eaten enters in the stomach much like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest; we belch in gas; we crave sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to have made all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Lad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink it while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for a week.

Wide relief often follows the first dose. It is important to help neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making gases, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Lad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithium and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used for many stomach disorders with excellent results.—Ad.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY A FOOL DESPISETH HIS FATHER'S INSTRUCTION; BUT HE THAT REGARDETH REPROOF IS PRUDENT.—PROV. 15:5.

PORT ARTHUR AND OUR COUNTY OFFICES

Budding trees, budding politicians and budding promises arrive together this spring, with none very far away. First bubbling of the Jefferson county political stew kettle was heard a week ago. The pot is being adroitly stirred by political leaders and candidates and prospective candidates alike. One of these fine days it will boil over with a roar.

This is something Port Arthur should take upon itself to think about and prepare for. The primaries are not very far away and it behooves Port Arthur to take means to insist that this part of Jefferson county be recognized by having good men in the field election day. All the county's brains are not occupying office in Beaumont. There is as good material of the essential quality, probably more, right here in Port Arthur. The News makes no personal issue in drawing attention to these facts.

For years practically every important office in the county has gone to Beaumont. Port Arthur's votes have been eagerly sought but her candidates have not. It is time that this is changed, in a fair and representative way.

We have gotten on the map as a city through our own efforts. Time was when a step-child was greeted by more smiles and loving affection than it has ever been Port Arthur's privilege to know at the hands of Beaumont, except on election day. Our facilities have been magnified to the world as Beaumont's. We have had to fight hard to get recognition, because we have had to fight some who have represented themselves to be our friends. Thus is experience gained.

Port Arthur has a third of the electors of Jefferson county, probably more. Politicians from the northern end of the county will seek some guileless means of wresting them from us. Heretofore it has been an easy job. Let's all Port Arthur make it a hard one this year.

By this suggestion The News does not mean to advocate a wholesale onslaught by candidates for county jobs. This would only dissipate our strength and defeat recognition. We have plenty of men eminently qualified to conduct with credit and honor any office in the power of Jefferson county electors. The point at issue is to demand Port Arthur's right to places on a clean cur ticket and then concentrate the city's strength on them, remembering that these individuals must be above the class known in political parlance to be "plumb" and "berth" seekers mainly after the emoluments of office. The emolument question is all right but the individual should be one having the public's confidence as able to earn it by service to his country.

Massachusetts will prosecute all farmers who failed to comply with the new state law that requires them to plow up or burn all cornstalks or stubbles by Dec. 1.

It's getting on every humanation is regulated by a law of some sort or other. However, many of our laws are ignored shortly after they're passed, and eventually forgotten entirely. Ask any lawyer.

APACHE INDIANS

Here is sad news: The 2,500 Apache Indians of the Fort Apache Reservation in Arizona are going to quit their wigwams and live in what a government bulletin describes as "modern homes."

A sawmill has been started on the reservation and already 100,000 feet of lumber has been cut. The Apaches will use this lumber for building their cottages.

The Apaches also are described as having been won over to the white man's system of education. The young Apaches are going to school regularly and taking home their grade cards to papa.

Miraculous, in a sense, for the Apaches have been the most reluctant of all Indian tribes in adopting so-called civilization.

All this is progress, of course. Why do we call it "sad news?" Well, we're glad that the Apaches are being "advanced." But somehow we have clung to the idea that the Apaches represented the last survival of the romantic old prairie days. And, when we see them surrender to the system of time clocks and efficiency experts, we feel that one of our most important illusions is destroyed.

After all, the system we call "civilization" is a dull proposition. Maybe it's "efficient" and all that. But a man chained by this system likes to feel that there is romance and adventure and freedom from civilization somewhere.

Next thing we know, the Eskimos will be discarding their candle-diet and adopting caloric.

It's all a part of the system that is reaching to the far corners of the earth and making life cut-and-dried, drab and dull. The old-time salt water sailor of the frigate days is gone, and now the primitive Apache Indians follow him to seclusion.

Progress, all right, but many a man resents the passing of the few remaining outposts of romance.

Quite a task, introducing movies to China. The Chinese were afraid of dark theaters, fearful of attacks by enemies and devils. So a wise Yank perfected a screen on which movies could be shown without darkening the theater.

This invention will soon take the place of the stock ticker. Wall Street believes. On a screen above the quotation board, the movie machine will flash prices in letters eight inches high, all in broad daylight. A boon to the chair-warming brigade.

AFTER DEATH, WHAT COMES AFTERWARD?

In Austria a 65-year-old poet, Arthur Brehmer, wondered what the critics would say of his poems after his death. So he faked death, went into hiding while obituaries of him appeared in the newspapers.

After a few days Brehmer showed up again in his old haunts.

The experience satisfied him that his work was better than he had believed. But the trouble with his system is that he isn't any closer to the truth than before he feigned death.

People naturally stand in tremendous awe of the Hereafter. It's a mighty poor stick of a man who doesn't have fine things said about him at his funeral and for some time after. In a few weeks the average man is almost forgotten, except by his family and intimate friends. A few months or a few years, and even the really great are remembered only occasionally.

Brehmer should have stayed "dead" for six months. By that time, he'd have known the truth. And the truth possibly would be that not one person in 100 would ever give him a thought.

It takes at least one century to determine whether a man was really great in his generation. It takes 1,000 years to find his real place in history. After that, if memory of him survives, he becomes legendary and most of the things credited to him are mythical.

This interesting question rises: "Just how much is the opinion of other people worth, to a man?" Not much, at best, barring actors, writers, politicians, specialists and others who depend on widespread popularity for their success and prosperity.

A fine thing to have a good standing, undoubtedly. And the best form of good standing is to be recognized as a true friend, a loyal husband, a good father, and all-around honorable man. But the greatest satisfaction is personal—in the individual's knowledge of himself, his merits and shortcomings. He alone knows the truth.

WHEN THEY HOWL

In the clear, cold moonlight up north, timber wolves again are running in packs—their wintertime combination for warfare.

Mr. Wolf is a fairly decent citizen in summer, living alone in his den with wife and whelps. Food is easy to get in summer, so the wolf seeks no allies.

In winter, starvation compels the wolves to run together in battle formation or pack. This community of wolves wins in a chase, where an individual wolf would lose.

It was this same reason that first induced men to band together in communities—protection against common danger. And this still is the fundamental purpose of civilization, also the theory of democratic government in a nutshell. Our highly complicated system is really a very simple and natural process.

Railroads this year will spend about a million dollars for new equipment, according to estimates by Railway Age. Good news for the steel industry, barometer of general business conditions, for nearly a third of all steel produced in American mills goes on the railroads for its market.

More steel ingots were produced in 1923 than in any previous year except 1917—which, however, led 1923 by only a very small fraction. Forty-three tons of steel ingots were made last year, for every 30 tons in 1913.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. C. C. Robinson

NERVOUS SIGNS
The laws of health and hygiene provide for certain signs that show in unmistakable evidence of one's physical or mental condition. If there is a greater demand or drain on your bodily powers than your system can stand, warning signs are displayed.

If you find that your sleep is not restful and you frequently awake at three or four in the morning, unable to go to sleep again, check up on your condition at once.

Do you find yourself becoming suspicious of your business associates or are you beginning to worry over the future business prospects? Are you losing your grip, through lack of exercise? Understand that running about an office or a factory, keyed up to a high pitch and giving orders to somebody about something is not exercise, no matter how low legerwork you may be at night.

Do you sit in a bad posture or tap on the desk or table nervously? Your circulation is probably bad, and your diet and digestion need attention at once.

In other words, you are showing nervous signs from some cause or other. Taking stock of your bodily health is far more important than any other stock-taking.

Don't resort to a dose of medicine or some dope to bolster you up for a short time. This only puts off the smash a little longer. Don't take stimulants in order to drive your bodily powers. It's bad business.

Try a rest, if you can possibly get away. I don't mean away from home, but away from work, worry and haste. Rest is a wonderful working tonic.

Anyone inclined to a nervous condition should not eat meat more than once a day. Use plenty of green vegetables, sea-food and milk.

Avoid tea and coffee for a month or two and mark the results. Consult your physician on a program of relaxation. Learn just what complete rest means.

LOS ANGELES
By DON RYAN

NEA SERVICE Writer
LOS ANGELES, Jan. 22.—"Buy the Right a Lot for Christmas." That's the slogan of the Los Angeles Realtors—it isn't considered respectful to call them real estate dealers here—is arousing much comment. Super-subdividing is going on in and about Los Angeles as arriving trains bring more and more citizens to spend their declining years—and what cash they have accumulated. Twenty-eight new subdivisions along the Calumet route out of Hollywood have been opened within the last two weeks. Some of them are within twenty miles of the outer fringe of Hollywood homes.

Barbara La Marr, accomplished home wicker of the silent drama, recently contracted to make four pictures in return for which she was to receive the sum of $1,000,000. Now Barbara has been married four times. She has a large reputation and—er—well, some of her friends thought they just had to have a slice of that million. As a result one lawyer is in jail charged with attempted blackmail. Hollywood is awaiting developments.

The Golden Press agents are having a hard time with Victor Sen Young. Swedish director recently reported. Although he speaks English fluently, the Swede is disinclined to talk about himself. He holds a quaint theory that a director should devote most of his time to working on pictures. He will not even purchase a purple limousine. In fact, as a movie director, the fellow is almost impossible.

Due to monopoly of the business a few peddlers are bootlegging.

More and better bootlegging is demanded if this city is to keep its reputation for progress. It is openly remarked in club and on curb that prices are too high. The progressive element is formulating a drive for municipal ownership and control of bootlegging.

Modern business has made specialists of us all. General speaking, on specializing in producing and women in dispensing incomes—no one can be an adequately attend to both functions.

It is worth the while of the producing member to make sure that the women of his family understand the importance of reserve, some portion of the income for investment, since the amount of income available for recreation will largely depend upon the spending of the women of the family.

BANKRUPT
Seventeen out of every 200 farmers in the 15 cent and when the banking states lost their farms, between 1920 and the spring of 1921, the banks "wiped them out." Many there would have gone bankrupt, except for the leniency of bankers and other creditors.

About one out of every 100 business firms fail each year in the United States. So the farmer, as an institution, was hit about four times as hard by the depression as the average business organization, in the matter of absolute disaster.

Life hasn't been easy picking for most of us, since May, 1920, when prosperity went on the rocks. The farmer has been hit hardest of all.

BRIMMS
We Americans are described as "the least educated people in the world," by Israel Zangwill. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University says Zangwill flatters us—that his estimate is too high.

Butler is right. Even our brainiest men do not know more than a thousandth of 1 per cent of the Truth. Education is simply a process of extending our horizon—re-vealing the gigantic extent of what we do not know. Men learn little in reality. He merely increases his conception or consciousness of his ignorance.

Industry is beginning to receive unfavorable notice in Los Angeles.

Women spend about 50 per cent of the money used for ultimate products, so it is good economy for any man to co-operate in teaching them the importance of investing wisely.

Women do not buy the steers on hoof, the hogs of cotton or the standing timber. But they do buy about 90 per cent of all final products—hat is, 90 per cent of all the beef, steaks, shoes, cotton goods, thread and furniture. Millions of dollars worth of business is transacted every month through the hands of women.

Modern business has made specialists of us all. General speaking, on specializing in producing and women in dispensing incomes—no one can be an adequately attend to both functions.

Your Money AT WORK

But Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

DOES SHE UNDERSTAND THE IMPORTANCE OF INVESTMENTS?

"I can't understand why our young women want to go around looking like chorus girls," Mrs. Gilliam complained irritably.

"Perhaps they're noticed the kind of men that marry chorus girls," Leila Thornbury remarked, looking up from a box of toots.

At 20 Leila had left one marriage behind, carrying away count-downed spoils.

"There was something feverish and restless in her eyes, something deliberately attractive in her manner."

"The two engagements before dinner," said Mrs. Thornbury, finally, "and I've got to go home and undress for the opera."

"I gave up the dance for this," boasted Dilly.

"If you all waste your time so carelessly," objected Mrs. Gilliam, "I'm sure, too, but my life is given to the service of others."

"What could be sweeter," her laughter mocked.

"Dilly! Nobody knows better than you that I've never had a selfish thought," Mrs. Gilliam—

"Out of the girl."

"Mr. Gilliam says I'm far too good for him," Leila said.

Only yesterday I gave 500 pounds of coffee and sugar to the Salvation Army."

"And today," interrupted the in-corrigeable Dilly, "father jumped the price of sugar to 32 cents."

Mrs. Gilliam saw the futility of further argument.

"One gets precious little reward for all that," she said with rising emotion. "I sent helpful thoughts from the Bible to all Mr. Gilliam's employees. Now they're on strike, and the man that got the content with your wages," she leading the strike."

"She rummaged in the toy box to conceal her irritation."

"Where's the Star of Bethlehem?" she asked absent-mindedly.

"It doesn't work, mother," explained Dilly.

"Are those your husband's men on the front steps?" Mrs. Thornbury asked after a moment's pause.

"Oh, no," said Mrs. Gilliam. "Those are people from the sweet shops. They're staying, I hear, and Mr. Gilliam says it's very right. It's this time he has found the object of her search—a large brilliant star-shaped ornament. 'What's the matter with the Star of Bethlehem?'" she inquired.

"Oh, the usual," said Dilly. "Who ever heard of the lights working on a Christmas tree?"

"But this must work," Mrs. Gilliam declared firmly. "Mrs. Tice has made to order—of Parisian diamonds. It cost $300."

"All right, it's better than nothing," said Dilly, taking it up from her mother and clambering up the shiny ladder.

"Well, I'm half dead and there can't be any more presents," droned Mrs. Thornbury, reaching for her step.

"I'll give my left hand for a diamond!"

"Not here!" exclaimed Mrs. Gilliam a bit shocked.

"Why not? We've had almost everything else."

"Mother's so mid-Victorian," chided Dilly. "And ministers are finding they've got to do something to make church-going attractive."

"What do we get out of it now? I've heard of preachers who go in for dances and movies and they draw crowds, too. Who wouldn't go to church to get a squirt at Doney Fairbanks?"

CHAPTER I

The Christmas Tree
ERE and there above the roofs and gables, eaves and steeples that are the skyline of New York, there towered an occasional church spire, a great, sensitive, kindly finger pointing to heaven.

The Church of the Nativity holds aloft just such a finger—but it rises from a snug, sleek, soft land.

An habitude of New York's most fashionable club would feel quite at home in the Church of the Nativity.

There is the same rich simplicity in both, the same warm comfort, and, above all, the same exclusiveness.

But, through the man who is as self-conscious in one institution as in the other.

A fleeting winter, sun, however, bound on Christmas eve, peered through stained glass windows upon a scene of disorder not in keeping with the princess it usually found in the rich shadows of those stately walls.

Crumpled paper, boxes and wood shavings were scattered everywhere. Bits of abandoned string and scrawled strange figures on the floor.

Rising above this confusion towered a giant fir tree, decked with the lights and colors of an Aurora Borealis. Tinsel and trinkets weighed its boughs. A young girl poised on a step ladder, draped a strand of silver on already overladen branches, then sat down awkwardly on one of the stems.

A woman, dressed too youthfully for her 40 years, and too lightly for her 180 pounds, turned slowly, surveying a dazzling ball held level with her eyes. As she faced the ladder she glimpsed other ornaments.

"Dilly!" she reproved. "Dilly, for pity's sake pull down your skirt." She turned to a third feminine figure bending over a box. "I don't know what skirts are coming to."

"There's no coming to the ground, mother, you can be sure of that," Dilly rejoined flippantly.

Dilly, otherwise Daffodil Gilliam, was pretty even before she learned that nature had adjourned solid in small round boxes. Twenty years old, she was 30 years witty, 40 years wise, 50 years worldly and 60 years cynical.

"I can't understand why our young women want to go around looking like chorus girls," Mrs. Gilliam complained irritably.

"Perhaps they're noticed the kind of men that marry chorus girls," Leila Thornbury remarked, looking up from a box of toots.

Elegance of Line Is Featured in the New Shoes for Spring Wear

IE fashionable woman is gradually learning the importance of being both appropriately gowned and shod. No matter smart her frock may be, if her shoes are not just as up-to-date as the frock, her appearance is not as pleasing as it might be.

Spring tendencies in shoes point to marked distinctions in morning, afternoon and evening wear. So far, a confusion in styles on the part of ten has permitted slippers, suitable only for evening, or at afternoon wear, to be worn in morning.

Hand not France, casts its spell of footwear; hence a distinct of morning shoe. The early morning shoe, of velvet or silk, with a low, gently curved toe, is the most popular. association will meet Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the library. Plans for furnishing the campfire girls' room at the new Department Club house will be discussed at this session and each guardian is urged to be in attendance.

MRS. EMMETT WELCH'S Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church will entertain with a party at the Annex Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A delightful afternoon of entertainment is being planned for the party and all members of Mrs. Welch's Sunday school class are invited and urged to attend.

MRS. G. H. GREEN AND DAUGHTER, Marie, have returned from Orange where they were called on account of the illness of Mrs. Green's little granddaughter, Maxine, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dawson.

MISS ISABEL DAVIS ENTERTAINED the Lady Slipper club last evening at her home, 429 Lake Charles avenue, when she assembled two tables of players for the agreeable diversion of bridge. In the games Miss Allene Johnston scored high and was presented with a dainty favor, and Miss Follina Vaylske received the prize for low score.

At the close of the games the hostess served a lovely social course. The personnel of players for the evening included Miss Allene Johnston, Miss Ruth Cobbett, Miss Frankie Mae Taylor, Miss Follina Vaylske, Miss Marie Lemaster, Miss Nina Dowdy, Miss Anna Williams and Miss Isabel Davis.

Mrs. Marie Lemaster will be the club's hostess next week at her home, 315 DeQueen boulevard.

THE W. B. A. OF THE MCCA-BEES drill team practiced yesterday afternoon preparatory for the installation services to be held tomorrow afternoon at the regular meeting of the W. B. A. at the hall in the Hartford building. The hour for tomorrow's session is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock.

The drill team has been practicing regularly for this event and has achieved excellent results, so that tomorrow's installation promises to be as impressive as it will be important.

MRS. E. H. McGUIRE, Mrs. C. W. Culp, Mrs. Van D. Mercer and Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Cobb motored over to Beaumont today to view the famous painting, "Christ on Mt. Calvary," which is on exhibition at a Beaumont firm.

The little study was taken up during the afternoon hours, most of the time being devoted to the burning of the beads of the Old Testament. A social hour followed and the little

THE CAMPFIRE GUARDIANS Saturday afternoon with Mrs. L. O. Daspit, the guardian, at her home, 1011 Eighth street, and during the business session the girls discussed the picnic, which was scheduled for Saturday at Fort Neches. The campfire girls voted to postpone the picnic until favorable weather, and although all were disappointed in not being able to have it Saturday, the vote for postponement was unanimous.

Miss Rosemary Stahl, the president, presided at Saturday's session, which opened with roll call by the secretary, Miss Ada Vandergriff. A short program was also given, with Mrs. Clara Doyers reading a paper on "What you should do to become a Campfire girl," and Miss Dugan Jacovetz giving a paper on "How to Gain Honors."

'Janitor Cupids' at Houston Barred

HOUSTON, Jan. 22.—(Harris courier.) "Janitor cupid" must go. County Judge Chester H. Bryan issued that order today.

Finding that janitors have been making $1 per marriage by conducting young couples to their favorite justices of the peace in the courthouse, Judge Bryan said the practice must stop.

The justice usually received $5 for tying the knot and passed along $1 to the janitor for bringing couples around.

LETTER FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT MY DEAR LESLIE:

I have certainly gotten in bad with you. I made the deal with the black mailing gentleman and bought the pearl for four thousand dollars, which I think was a pretty good stroke of business.

Not knowing what to do with it and the remainder of the money—for I did not dare deposit it to my account—I decided I would go and put it in the safety deposit vault in your hotel room.

I arrived at your place about five o'clock in the afternoon and was just opening your vault when, without my knowing, Jack came in. Naturally he looked surprised and very suspicious.

I informed him that I had made some stupendous sales and I did not want to deposit the money in the bank right away and that I was sure you would not mind my using the vault for a night or two.

He jumped at the conclusion that Harry was sending me money and that I did not want to deposit it, on account of Harry's creditor, who might attach it. He said immediately, "You needn't feel at all alarmed about me, Ruth, although I am Harry's largest creditor, but I would rather you would not leave the money in Leslie's vault safe. In fact, I think Leslie is very foolish to have given you the combination. I myself did not know it."

He was perfectly furious, Leslie, and I very meekly took my little roll of bills—which by the way was not so little, and I was sure that he had misread its size—and put it in my pocket. In doing so that troublesome pearl fell upon the floor.

Fortunately it was rolled up in tissue paper. Jack and I both stooped for it and reached it at about the same time—at least our heads came to together with a terrible concussion.

"I beg your pardon," I said, "Jack was so angry that I knew he would burst if he didn't swear so I said, 'Go ahead and swear.' And he certainly said it, Ruth."

In a voice of cutting coldness he mentioned that he hoped he would never mind me prying into his wife's secret hiding places again when she was away. In fact, that he would feel better if he knew his wife never met me again.

I fled and there the matter stands. Sorry, but that's all.

"UP SHE GOES" TOMORROW
 From the first scene of "Up She Goes" showing the foundation of a young couple's love nest—their "Journey's End"—to the last in which harmony reigns supreme. It is claimed there is not a show moment in the production. "Up She Goes" is the new musical comedy from the combined pens of Frank Craven, who wrote the book, and Harry Tierney and Joseph McCarthy, who supplied the music and lyrics.
 William A. Brady, under whose management "Up She Goes" will be presented here at the Elks theatre Jan. 23 has gathered together an exceptionally fine cast and a charming young chorus, who romp about in an ecstasy of motion.
 The story surrounds the "love nest" of two young lovers who are all but dismayed by the suggestions offered by their meddling families as to how to build their little home. And these come pouring in from all sides. This self-same family creates much of the mirth that keeps the audience in roars of laughter, yet the play is not without a touch of pathos. "Up She Goes" enjoyed a sensational run of an entire season at the Playhouse, New York. It has to be seen to be fully appreciated.

BRINGING UP FATHER
 "Bringing Up Father On Broadway" is coming tonight to the Elks theatre. This new musical comedy is said to be the best ever evolved around the characters of George McManus in his famous cartoons of the same title. "Father" as usual is the dominating figure and participates in a number of stirring and side-splitting adventures which takes him, Maggie, his terminant wife, the irrepressible Dinky Moore and other of the beloved characters to various parts of the world. The production calls for a large cast and a number of unusual features, surprises, innovations and novelties are promised.

Here's One Girl Who Got $9,500 to Bob Hair

If your wealth of curly blonde hair was the envy of every feminine eye—
 If you were not in financial need—
 And if you were called upon to name a price to have your hair cut off—
 How much would you demand?
 Anna Q. Nilsson, famed motion picture actress, asked $9,500.
 And that price was paid to the fair Anna by Sam E. Rork, producer of "Ponjola," a First National picture now at the Peoples.
 But it wasn't mere money that influenced Miss Nilsson to part with her crowning glory. The $9,500 alone would be entirely inadequate compensation for such a loss. It was the knowledge that she was making a greater sacrifice to her art than had any other feminine star of the silver screen that moved the blonde beauty to the ordeal of submitting to the barber's merciless shears.
 Moreover, it wasn't simply a matter of having the hair bobbed, thought at first it was thought that such a trimming would suffice. But Anna's hair is thick and heavy and producer and director decided that a wig would never do in this picture. The story of Cynthia Stockley's story of

Every Man Owes Three Things to His Bank

The Depositor who wrote the following letter has given permission to publish it. Has the thought he expresses ever occurred to you? Do you agree with him?

GENTLEMEN:

You have published many advertisements about your obligations to me as a depositor. I think it is time for one of your customers to write an advertisement about HIS obligations to you, his bank.

As I see it, I owe you three things—and money (at the moment, thank the Lord) is not one of them.

1 I owe it to you, as well as myself, to maintain a good business reputation. To YOU because I expect you to demand this of your other depositors. If I have business dealings with a customer of the First National Bank I assume that BECAUSE he is a First National Bank customer, he pays his bills, has regard to the sanctity of a contract, and is otherwise dependable. I cannot expect you to uphold this standard on the part of others, unless I do my personal share in upholding it.

2 I owe it to you to maintain a balance on which you can make a profit. I expect you to maintain convenient offices, which means high rents, high taxes and other expenses. I call on you for a variety of services, many of which were never thought of as a part of banking ten years ago.

You cannot meet these expenses and render these services unless you are making money. If you make no money on me, then I am riding on the back of your other depositors. I don't want others riding on my back. I expect, therefore, not to ride, but to walk and to carry my share of your load.

3 I owe you an obligation to accept your decision cheerfully, if you sometime say "No." If you haven't the courage to say "No" many times a day, and stick to it, I don't want my money in your bank. I expect you to say "No" when you are invited to make speculative investments—because part of the money you invest is my money. I expect you to say "No" when you are asked to make questionable loans, or to pay too high a rate of interest, or to lend at too low a rate.

I want all the interest I can get; and all the accommodation I can get. But first of all I want to be dead sure that what money I have with you is ABSOLUTELY SAFE. It can't be safe unless you are conservative. And any man or institution that is conservative must necessarily say "No" every day. If ever you say it to me, therefore, I owe it to you to believe that you are saying it because it is in the best interests of all your depositors of whom I am one.

Port Arthur, Jan. 21, 1924.

This is a straight from the shoulder letter. We believe the spirit of fair-dealing which it represents is eminently characteristic of the customers of this bank. We are proud of this spirit and grateful for it. It has been a very big factor in The First National Bank's success.

Port Seeks Couch, LeRoy for Prelim to Thursday's Battle

Actor-Rentrop Mill to Be Drawing Card of Mat Season Here

Idle-Weight Grapplers Good Bet for Opening Session of Port City's Best Wrestling Program Arranged by Promoter Fort

BY BILL ARCHER

Offer of a purse for a one-fall match between Young Jesse Couch and Leroy LeMayers has been made by Promoter Fort, the match to be presented as the semi-windup preliminary of the Actor-Rentrop finish scrap Thursday evening at the theater.

He offer, according to the stipulation made by the promoter, is a time-limit of one hour on the one-fall match, or months past, local fans acquainted with the two local grapplers have been in the throes of heated argument as to which is the best. Both tip the beams at the 160 to 165-pound class at the present time, and both are conceded to be speed-actors on the mats. Couch, who has been out of the city for several weeks, returned here Monday, and immediately announced he was ready to take LeRoy on.

BOTH GRAPPLERS GOOD

LeRoy has been ready to wrestle Couch for months. During appearance of Young Couch here in the latter months of 1923, LeRoy was a constant challenger at the ringside, and was offered a match. Lack of promotion failed to bring the two to a close, and now, with Promoter Fort putting up a neat purse for a one-fall match limited to one hour for the battle between the two scrappers, fans ought to get a real thrill before Actor and Rentrop come on.

Neither LeRoy nor Couch have been heard from since Fort's offer yesterday afternoon, but the chances are a long time that both will grab at the chance to exhibit their wares again in Port Arthur fandangos.

MAKES CARD DOUBLE BILL

Addition of these speedy 160-pounders to Thursday evening's makes the card a double-header, with four professionals appearing on the program, and adding considerable pepper to the main event.

Couch-LeMayers battle as a semi-windup will be a fitting climax to precede the Actor-Rentrop mill, which is considered by local fans to be one of the toughest Port has ever had.

Actor, pride of the Port City, tough to the finest points and ring of the word, and clever as the best in the game, is a subject these days to meet Charlie Rentrop, greatest exponent of the Grecian style grappling, and claimant of the European light-heavyweight championship, which belt he still has in possession.

ACTOR TO TAKE REST

Actor's last appearance to his beloved Port Arthur fans, he says, this season. After the mill he will go into a sort of retirement here, during which time he will receive treatment for his eyes from a local specialist. With that over, George will take a vacation, pack his satchels and accept of the several big propositions offered him recently, which will carry him to the farthest point on the globe away from Port Arthur.

Actor is preparing to make his farewell appearance Thursday evening one long to be remembered by the host of admirers, who have gathered regular at the ringside to goad him on into a fight—and one to be remembered by Mr. Rentrop.

MR. RENTROP IS GOOD

Like Mr. Rentrop is returning to Port Arthur on a sort of "home-coming" mission, for it was here he first made his mark in the realm of southern grappling. And with that in mind, the Little Rock resident is not coming back a slouch in any of his work.

King Dope counts for anything at all, in fact, Rentrop has edged on Actor for Thursday evening's bill, for he did what the local ace has never done—he conquered Clarence Lind at catch-weights in a finish match two months ago in ring at Little Rock.

Actor made a wonderful showing against the champion, and who have followed the game at all know they are in for a buzzing, thriller Thursday evening.

FAMOUS PITCHER PRAISES TOBIN

Walter Johnson Says Brown Star Fast, Confusing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—Outfielder Johnny Tobin of the St. Louis Browns is the most resourceful batter in the American league to the great Walter Johnson.

"In these days when nine out of every 10 batters simply take a healthy swing, Johnny Tobin stands out as one of the few batters who mixes them up, keeps the pitcher uneasy," says Johnson.

"Tobin is very fast, is an excellent hunter and perhaps the best man in the American league dragging the ball down the first base line. Nothing seems to upset a pitcher more than to have a batter unexpectedly drag the ball and get away with it. The maneuver also tends to make the whole team wobble on defense.

Tobin, however, doesn't confine his hitting to mere bunting or dragging the ball. He can pull a ball into right field with great force, and can take a fast one on the outside into left field with uncanny deftness.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind., Jan. 22.—(Bud Taylor, Terre Haute flash, and Herbie Schaeffer, Chicago, were matched to box 10 rounds here Monday. The bout will mark Taylor's first appearance since he beat Frankie Jerome in New York. Jerome died following the fight.

NEW THREAT TO COME IN APRIL

Jap Net Star Invades U. S. Seeking Laurels

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A new Japanese threat to American tennis supremacy will arrive in the United States this spring. Takeo Harada, new national tennis champion in Japan, is expected to reach this country early in April, according to an announcement by Zezen Shindai, captain of the 1923 Japanese Davis cup team.

Harada plans to enter an American university for a post-graduate course. He will appear in a number of leading tournaments here and is counted upon as a member of the Japanese Davis cup team, should Japan challenge for the international tennis trophy in 1924.

By winning the second annual championship of the Japanese Lawn Tennis association, Harada succeeds Fukuda, former champion who is now a resident of New York City.

Horrows, Tex, Don't Starve The Poor Boy to a Battle, Harry Might Get Walloped

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—"Not one more cent than $200,000 will Luis Firpo get out of me for fighting Harry Wills," Tex Rickard said today.

After a cash layout of $200,000 as one of three propositions had been sent to the "Angel" on him, Rickard learned that the Angel was setting ready to use the "Angel" on him.

"If Firpo can get $250,000 or $300,000 from some other promoter," Rickard said, he will be foolish if he does not accept the best offer. My best price has been named.

"Firpo is worth $250,000 and not a cent more. I believe I have always known what a fighter is worth in the ring and I haven't under-estimated the drawing power of Firpo.

"In discussing a Firpo-Wills fight it must be remembered that Wills is worth something. It isn't similar to the case where Wills would be getting a direct shot at the title in which case he might consider the opportunity of winning the championship as being worth something."

Rickard agrees with Firpo's claim that he is free from the option that Rickard put on his services and the promoter is willing to have Firpo knock himself off to the highest bidder.

Rickard already has made his proposition to Wills for a Firpo fight and until something definite is heard from Wills he cannot continue the negotiations with the colored challenger.

It is probable that Wills may demand 25 per cent of the gross receipts now that Rickard's offer to Firpo has become known. It is certain that Wills never will be convinced that he is not as good a drawing card as the South American.

Earl Mulvey, manager for Wills, contends that he does not have to do business with Rickard and that he has several other reputable promoters who are willing to put up the money for the fight.

YANKS ARRANGE SPRING GAMES

Have Nine Games With Brooklyn Robins

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—Nine games with the Brooklyn Robins, seven with New Orleans, and five with Rochester have been arranged on the spring schedule for the New York Yankees.

The schedule calls for a game between the Yankees and the Robins in Knoxville on April 7, the same day on which the Giants and White Sox are to play there.

OFFICER LIVES WITH 2 WIVES

Quarrel Between Women Bares Strange Case

CHICAGO, Jan. 22.—The amazing tale of how a policeman lived a double life for 14 years, supporting two wives and 10 children, was related today by Patrolman John W. Clark, 52.

At the time Clark contracted his second "marriage" he was drawing a salary of $300 a month, his present salary is $130.

Quarrel Brings Disclosure The disclosure came yesterday following a quarrel between Clark and Mrs. Clark No. 2 on a matter of money. Mrs. Clark No. 2 demanded $100 a month and when Clark said he could not give her that, she threatened to leave him.

Clark took on his second wife 14 years ago during the absence of Mrs. Clark No. 1. She was in the country recuperating from an illness.

Eight years ago a woman known to Mrs. Clark No. 1 as Miss Elizabeth Weiss applied to her for a job as maid. Mrs. Clark said she did not like the woman's appearance and refused her.

"Miss Weiss" was Mrs. Clark No. 2 and had been for six years but it was not until four months ago that Mrs. Clark No. 1 found out that Clark was married.

A sister of Mrs. Clark No. 2 wrote to Mrs. Clark No. 1 about her husband's state of affairs.

"Will I beguile John's second wife not to tell the police about him because I don't want to see him get into trouble?" Mrs. Clark No. 1 said, "but she wanted more money than John could spare."

John frankly told Captain Matthei that he took a second wife because his first wife was ill and he believed it would be but a short time before she died.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

Since the close of the baseball season Liddle Collins, famous second sacker of the Chicago White Sox, has been the central figure in what is a baseball rumor. So far none of the gossip has come true. A year ago at this time Collins figured that he would be with the Yankees during the 1923 campaign. Throughout the winter the deal between the Yankees and the Sox hung fire, but finally was passed up by both clubs.

It has always been a cherished ambition of Collins to play with New York. Failure to be traded to the Yankees last year was a distinct disappointment.

In the spring of last year while umpiring for the Chicago club Collins, his speed on the bases stood out most. I commented on this feature, and with a smile he replied: "Never was in better shape in my life. Though I was going to be with New York and wanted to go big, so I really started to condition myself at the close of last season. Hardball light exercise and care as to my diet has put me in as good shape as I ever was."

The great work of Collins last year is proof of the belief he had in his own condition. He had one of the best years of his brilliant career.

Rumor has linked the name of Collins as Washington's new manager. The fact that Owner Griffith has such a fine player as Harris at second is one of the things that tends a bit of doubt on such a report. Harris, much younger than Collins, is one of the game's greatest second sackers.

Collins was a star outfielder instead of a second baseman it would make the report that Collins was to manage the club sound much more logical. The Washington club needs outfield strength far more than the addition of an infield star.

What about the chances of Eddie Collins if he succeeds as a big league manager? Here is what Kid Gleason had to say on that subject one day last summer when I asked him:

"Eddie Collins is the most valuable ball player I have ever come in contact with. A wonder mechanically, he has even a keener brain. Collins rarely makes a mistake. His brain seems to be working a couple of plays ahead of all the time. He has the ideal temperament for a ball player, conscientious almost to a fault, yet able to accept the bitter and the sweet with a smile. He seldom worries. Collins is my ideal of a ball player. Unless I am greatly mistaken he will be equally successful if he desires to take up the managerial end of the game."

MOORE WRITES GREG FOR BOUT

English Middle Feels Confident of Victory

By United News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—On the strength of one fight in America, which he won as he pleased, Ted Moore, the English middleweight, is now composing defiant papers to Harry Greb of Pittsburgh, holder of the world championship. Moore is one of several European boxers who have come to this country lately to fight in the lighter divisions while Tex O'Rourke, the famous trainer, is snooping around the Tilbury Docks of London looking for a good British heavyweight.

Moore met Larry Estridge, a colored scrapper, formerly an amateur, who had been spoken of, rather hastily as "the black Ketchel." He tied up Estridge's swift rushes with a clever defense and rolled him from rope to rope with a counter attack.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"Hello, daddy! There you are," she cried heartily. The Market Town Fair was a great success.

The Phœnix sold out over and over again, and even Greedy Nan said that for once in her life she had had enough to eat. The Popcorn Man said he had sold enough popcorn to trim a thousand Christmas trees, and as for Immature Well, it's a living wonder that the Daddy Gander Land people didn't float away altogether and never come back.

Nancy and Nick had ten rides on the roller-coaster, straight running— no, I don't mean to say that the roller-coaster was straight running, roller-coasters never are! But they had ten rides in a row. And then they decided that they would try the Ferris Wheel. Daddy Gander bought a whole strip of tickets.

It was great fun to get into one of the little seats in the great wheel and then begin to mount slowly toward the sky. When you were up there it was like being on top of a mountain. You could look down at the earth spreading out like a map under your feet, and it made you feel ever and ever so important.

Well, by and by, lunch time came, and then such a hurrying for baskets and boxes and a scurrying to find shady places to spread table cloths on the grass.

All at once there was a rustling among the tree-tops and who should come gliding down to earth but Mother Goose, sailing her jolliest saucer.

"Oh, goodness!" whispered Missus Sprat to Jack. "I left my front porch and walk in a dreadful way. I do hope I can get back home and clean it up before Mother Goose sees it."

"Hurrah for Daddy Gander!" cried everybody.

"Hurrah for Daddy Gander!" cried the Twins.

And everybody was happy.

CHILD'S STORY OF THE HUMAN RACE

CHAPTER 5
New Homes for the Gods

People of ancient times, believed gods lived on mountains. I suppose this idea came from the fact that mountain tops were hard to reach. If a person said gods lived up there, no one could prove he was wrong.

The Land of Two Rivers was so far away. So high towers of brick were built to take the place of mountains as homes for gods. It did not seem good to have gods live on distant mountains.

The most famous tower was built at Borsippa, in Babylonia. It is often said to be the "Tower of Babel" spoken of in the Bible. Only the ruins have been found but olden records give us an idea of how it looked. The picture shows the probable shape.

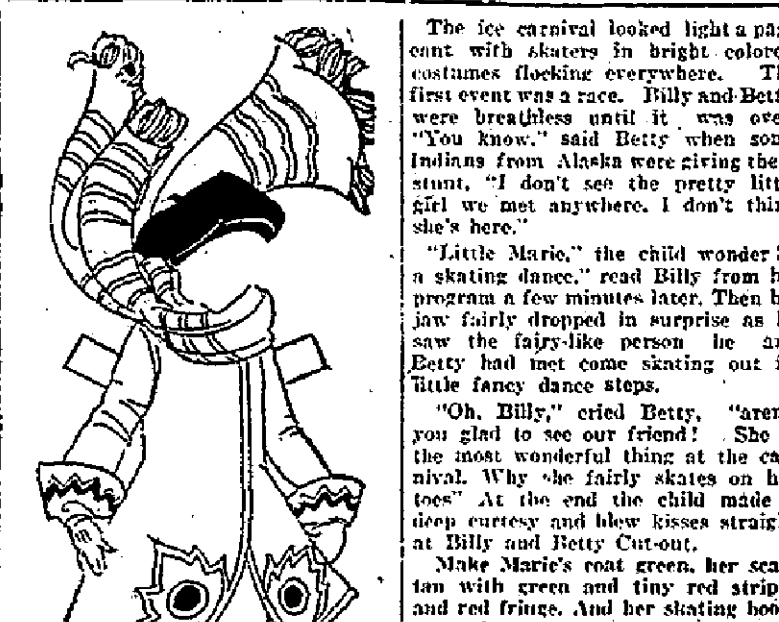

The tower was 155 feet high. It rose by stages, three of which were 25 feet high and four 15 feet. A small praying-place at the top was 15 feet high.

The seven stages stood for the "seven wanderers of the sky," the sun, moon, and five planets. Each stage had a different color—golden, silver, black, orange, red, yellow and blue. The golden stage stood for the sun, and is said to have been coated with real gold.

A grand home for the gods of the Land of Two Rivers.

TEXAS WOMAN AND BABE ESCAPE FIRE

RANGER, Texas, Jan. 22.—Awakened by the cries of her four-year-old daughter, Mrs. W. A. McGonigal found her bedroom wrapped in flames here Monday.

Snatching the little girl and three-year-old brother from the bed, Mr. McGonigal fled from the house just a few minutes before it became a furnace of flames.

So narrow was the escape the Mrs. McGonigal's hair was singed by the heat. The house was a total loss.

SENIORS GIVE PLAY TONIGHT

'Come Out of the Kitchen'
At Franklin School

Tonight's the night for the Senior Class play, "Come Out of the Kitchen." The play will be staged at Franklin auditorium at 8 o'clock, and will also be presented at the same time at the Franklin school.

The plot of the comedy centers around Olivia Dainierfeld, an aristocratic young woman, who, deciding to leave her old Southern home, stands in order to pay the expenses of her father who is traveling in Europe for his health. The comedy consists of three acts and takes place in the old Southern home.

The story tells of the leaving of the old home to a wealthy northerner and of Olivia and her two brothers and sister finding employment in the home as servants. How Olivia's plan progresses for obtaining money for her father, and how she is finally discovered masquerading as the cook, forms a delightful story replete with many ridiculous and mirth provoking situations.

Big Crowd Expected
According to Elmer Baker, chairman of the ticket committee, tickets are being sold rapidly, and full houses are expected on both nights.

The cast for "Come Out of the Kitchen" includes:
Olivia Dainierfeld—Florence Coleman.
Elmer Crane, wealthy northerner—Glen Gato.
Elderly Lawyer—Leland Lacy.
Elizabeth Dainierfeld, Olivia's sister—Helen Porter.
Paul Dainierfeld, her elder brother—Allen Shivers.
Charles Dainierfeld younger brother—Jimmy Kremlinger.
Miss Faulkner, wealthy guest of Olivia's—Rena Dorian.
Corra, her daughter—Martha Black.
Randolph Weeks, a real estate man—Roy Hoiges.
Negro Mammy—Gertrude Seubold.

LONGHORN BAND
PLANS TRIP HERE
AUSTIN, Texas, Jan. 22.—Plans are now being made for the fifth annual tour of the University of Texas Longhorn band, according to Manager Ervin F. Smith, of Corsicana. The coming tour will probably include 16 Texas cities, and promises to be the most extended trip ever made by the Longhorn band and corps of vaudeville entertainers. Tentative plans for the spring tour include appearances in Houston, Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Orange, Port Arthur, Victoria, Bay City, Corsicana, Mexia, Elmhurst, Greenville, Commerce, Fort Worth, Cleburne and Waco.

Although arrangements have not yet been completed, it is expected that a Pullman car will be chartered for the band for the entire trip. The entertainers may go by boat from Port Arthur to Orange, however, as was done last spring, according to Manager Smith.

Undertaker Has Tale of Queer Capers of Vaults

Two ghostly mysteries that have come to his own knowledge in the 34 years he has been connected with the undertaking business, one in his Port Arthur establishment recently were told today by J. E. Grammer, undertaker.

One of four heavy steel vaults standing on end against the outside wall of the morgue has been seen and heard rocking back and forth, banging up against the wall behind it and bumping the vaults on either side, Grammer said. Not only he himself, but two of the men employed at the establishment have seen and heard the vault rocking back and forth, he said.

Several years ago while in an undertaking establishment at Beaumont, two heavy screen doors with large springs connected to them, suddenly flew while open, hit the wall and jammed closed again, Grammer said. Not a breath of wind was stirring, and no one was seen to open the doors.

Watch Out Folks! Concatenated Order Hoo Hoo Is Coming

Gathering of several hundred members of the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo from all parts of Texas and Louisiana is slated for Port Arthur within the next 30 or 40 days.

This is the word issued today by W. O. Wells of the Wells Lumber company, who recently was appointed Scrivener for Port Arthur and given charge of arranging the entertainment features and details of the convention.

Appointment of Wells as the Port Arthur lumberman in charge of making the gathering of Hoo-Hoo's a success was made recently by P. P. Butler, of Beaumont, who is in charge of this district. The organization is made up of men engaged in the lumber business and its kindred trades, Wells said.

One of the features of the concatenation scheduled for Port Arthur will be an initiation and parade, when a number of candidates, or "initiates," will be introduced into the order of Hoo-Hoo. While similar activities of the Hoo-Hoo's have been held in Beaumont a number of times, this concatenation slated for Port Arthur will be the first arranged by Texas and Louisiana lumbermen, according to Wells.

LACK OF WALKS HANDICAPS MAIL

Free Delivery Held Up Till Improvements Come

Absence of continuous sidewalks throughout the thickly settled residential districts is holding up carrier delivery inaugurated in these neighborhoods.

Lack of Walks Blamed
The blame for the absence of carrier service out of the local post office was placed on this phase of the city development today by Postmaster S. I. Dunn, in a letter to Mayor J. P. Logan commending the stand of the city commission on the sidewalk conditions of Port Arthur.

It was pointed out in the letter that one of the main requisites of the postal department was that continuous sidewalks be laid in the residential districts before carrier service was organized by the department.

Service Not Best
At present two mounted routes work out of the post office, but the service to patrons is not what it might be, according to the postmaster.

Much trouble and many mixups result from the lack of sidewalks, Dunn pointed out. Mail carriers are handicapped in carrying mail boxes and carrying the mail parcels. Automobiles wreck many of the boxes mounted on posts along these two routes.

Service of legal notices on property owners who have not yet put down sidewalks before their premises was slated today by Assistant Fire Marshal E. W. Warren, working under direction of the city commission.

Preliminary surveys on city improvements approved by the recent authorization of Port Arthur voters are moving along rapidly. It was said today at the office of Nagle, Witt and Kelins, consulting engineers engaged to supervise the work.

The gradients, estimates, specifications are other information to be compiled relative to the work before the bids can be called for, will be ready by the time the bonds are advertised for sale, Clyde Bates, one of the consulting engineers in charge of the work stated today.

Church Army Agent To Open Up Mission

Major H. Flensky, representative of the Church Army, who served as a Church Army war worker with the Canadian forces in France and was severely wounded at the front, is now in Port Arthur to open a mission for his organization here, he said today.

The major lost his left arm at the shoulder and suffered a skull fracture and various other injuries while stationed on the Amiens front with the Canadian Tenth Brigade in June 1916. Although a native of Poland, Major Flensky comes of Irish stock, and is now a naturalized citizen of the United States, he said.

Since his arrival in Port Arthur, Major Flensky has spoken in the First Baptist church on the subject of missions in Poland and Russia. He speaks 10 languages, among them Polish, Yiddish, German, Russian and Italian.

Being Arranged

The regular meeting of the finance committee of the Port Arthur Red Cross chapter is arranged for Tuesday, January 23, at the New Lake View hotel, when a luncheon will be served the members. It was announced at the Red Cross but today. With several important items on the slate for disposition by the committee, all the members are urged to attend the luncheon meeting. Red Cross officials said.
